Dessa spent most summers in her youth swimming and boating at Loon Lake in Indiana with her parents and close group of Friends. She was an avid roller skater and would ride her bike miles to a roller rink with her friends. Her friends and family were blessed by her spontaneous creativity as she was often found sketching out life's little moments onto paper. Her impromptu drawings were kept close to her heart in a wooden crafted sketchbook made by her father.

She was working at the local Chevy dealer in Hartford City Indiana and when she would see her future husband drive up in his delivery truck she would promptly go outside to watch this shy man's face turn red.
