“ Stephanie, from your comments I realize how dearly loved this man was to you. My deepest condolences in your time of grief. To quote a phrase you used " I cannot wait to run into your arms once again." I tell you that the same thoughts went through my mind when I recently lost my Mom. The feeling of touching her was so special, so endearing, that I yearn for THE DAY AND THE HOUR soon coming when that reunion WILL TAKE PLACE.

I want to share this hope with you because it comes crystal clear from your words just how much you miss Thomas. His early departure no doubt is one of the most troublesome and painful periods you can go through. Look forward to the day when you no longer have to say goodbye, yes, never to lose him again. This is NOT A DREAM.

Jesus resurrected Lazarus one of his best friends. Please, before you dismiss the thought as out of touch with reality, read this Bible verse in the book of the Revelations, chapter 21, verses 3,4. This is how Our Lord will become the resurrection and the life to Thomas, to you, and to the kids.

Thomas is now sleeping in his tomb waiting to hear Jesus Christ call his name. He shall awaken from his deep slumber and he, like Lazarus of old coming out of his grave, shall stand and live again. That's when your wish will come true for you. That's when you'll embrace him in your arms once again! “ Tommy is my dear sweet amazing caring sexy man. We have been together since we were 16 and 17 years old, we are high school sweethearts. We share many memories together and I hold them all close to my heart. He gave me so much in life.. he took alot of it when he left, but he left somethings here for me. Our beautiful kids for instance. Our handsom son Tj who is a spitting imagine of his daddy, and our beautiful daughter Baylee who has his gorgeous eyes and his attitude! We were so in love. A love like ours doesnt come and go.. its forever. You are my everything. My love, my life.. always, forever and truly. Living on without you is a daily nightmare and struggle. You not only were my man, my protector, but you were my best friend. I knew you better than any living breathing soul on this planet and thats how you knew me as well. I miss you, every morning waking up without you.. I miss you. Laying our kids down ,I miss you.. eating dinner, cookouts, holidays.. I miss you. Brushing my teeth... I miss you. Going to bed.. I cry for you. I love you Thomas Glenn, I can not wait to go running into your arms again. Antherr day closer my beautiful man. I love you. Forever. I promise

“ I met Thomas awhile ago when he & Stephanie rented my house & just had TJ. Even tho they were both so young, I was so impressed with them. In the months following, Thomas, usually w/TJ, would come pay the rent, always on time & we would have some really good conversations & I always ended up laughing with him. He talked about his love for Stephanie, how he wanted to marry her almost every single time. I am beyond sad about the loss of this very special young guy. He really touched my heart. So sorry, Stephanie for you & your children.

“ Me & Tommy dated from 5th to 7th grade & remained best friends for a few years. He was so sweet & funny & understanding that it was impossible not to love him. He will forever be in my thoughts & memorys. My greatest hope out of this tragedy is that his babies will forever know how much of a sweet caring man their father is/was. I can say nothing but good things about him & think of nothing but good things & memorys. You will always be missed & remembered Thomas Spence :(

“ I remember teaching you to drive my car, it was a stick shift.. You ended up buying it and moving back to Florida in the car, but before that we were gunna go to the video store and you were driving... You backed out of the driveway right into the neighbors car.. not very hard so we just took off... lol... You lived with me for a while, and it gave me so many memories, and the day you left for Florida I knew my sister was with a damn good man. I loved ya like a brother kid..
